III. Wisdom for Wealth: The Three Rules that Produce It, Hazen Stevens

Key Scripture: Matthew 6:21 “For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.”

I. Foundation: The Order Matters

A. You've submitted your heart. You've chosen to trust. Now comes the part most people skip — Produce

B. John Wesley's framework: Earn all you can. Save all you can. Give all you can. These were not a wealth-building strategy, but a discipleship framework aimed at glorifying God through the faithful use of money.

C. This only works on the right foundation: without submission and trust, it becomes a financial system; with them, it becomes a sacred life.

II. Rule One: Earn All You Can

A. Earn all you can without harming your soul, body, or neighbor — a call to full-effort stewardship in whatever God has placed in your hands.

B. Scripture gives this three dimensions:

Colossians 3:23–24 (WEB) “Whatever you do, work heartily, as for the Lord and not for men, knowing that from the Lord you will receive the reward of the inheritance; for you serve the Lord Christ.”

Proverbs 10:4 (WEB) “He becomes poor who works with a lazy hand, but the hand of the diligent brings wealth.”

James 1:5 (WEB) “But if any of you lacks wisdom, let him ask of God, who gives to all liberally and without reproach; and it will be given to him.”

Matthew 7:9–11 (WEB) “Or who is there among you who, if his son asks him for bread, will give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, who will give him a serpent? If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask him!”

C. The combination of a willing hand, a devoted heart, and a trusting ask means you are not doing this alone.

III. Rule Two: Save All You Can

A. Save all you can by cutting unnecessary expense — not out of fear or miserliness, but intentionality that frees resources for better purposes.

B. Scripture frames this as freedom and contentment:

Proverbs 22:7 (WEB) “The rich rule over the poor. The borrower is servant to the lender.”

Hebrews 13:5 (WEB) “Be free from the love of money, content with such things as you have, for he has said, ‘I will in no way leave you, neither will I in any way forsake you.’”

C. It also frames it as legacy:

Proverbs 13:22 (WEB) “A good man leaves an inheritance to his children’s children, but the wealth of the sinner is stored for the righteous.”

IV. Rule Three: Give All You Can

A. Give all you can — not merely as a percentage, but as a way of life marked by radical generosity.

B. The generous life is rich in good deeds and expressed through the whole of life:

1 Timothy 6:18–19 (WEB) “That they do good, that they be rich in good works, that they be ready to distribute, willing to communicate; laying up in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may lay hold of eternal life.”

Romans 12:13 (WEB) “Contributing to the needs of the saints; given to hospitality.”

C. When hearts are submitted and trusting, “mine” loosens and “ours” expands:

Acts 2:44–45 (WEB) “All who believed were together, and had all things in common. They sold their possessions and goods, and distributed them to all, according as anyone had need.”

V. Integration: Why the Order Matters

A. Earn generates resources, save protects and positions them, and give releases them into the Kingdom.

B. But underneath it all: submission keeps earning from becoming an idol, trust keeps saving from becoming hoarding, and generosity keeps the entire system from collapsing inward.
